

Announcing an upcoming class called Soul-dren!

Dear friends,

I am excited to invite you to Part 2 of a 4 Part course: Soul-dren- the unfoldment of children's light from ages 2-7.

I passionately believe that if we focus on the light within our children, within each other and the world, we can transform our world and that is what this next generation is being called to do. But this shift must first begin with parents, grandparents and teachers modeling those higher energetic qualities and teaching those higher truths. This class is to encourage that deeper perspective of self and children as incarnating consciousness, so we can teach that to our children.

The course consists of two parts:

1. The metaphysical information on children and their soul development, primarily from the books by: Alice Bailey, Lucille Cedercrans, Rudolf Steiner and Joseph Chilton Pearce.
2. Children activities that support the metaphysical information, and seasonal activities that support those as well.

Part 1 covered the original birth of the monad up to age 2.

Part 2 will focus on the magical years ages 2-7.

Children at this age are still very connected to Spirit and innately feel the Oneness with all life, which is why this age is known as the magical years. During this time bugs talk, and the snow is from the sparkle of angel wings! For parents it is a time to participate in that magic as well as model qualities that support their children's innate sense of goodness and truth.

This course brings together my two life-long passions, children, and esoteric studies as well as my college training and teaching experience.

I am co-teaching with a close friend and graduate of the Esoteric Healing classes that coordinated the children's curriculum for her church for many years. She has a lot of fun ideas to share with the children in your life.
